

Testimonial for IWTS – Industrial Water training Services Ltd

Peter Jackson and Val Perrin the directors of IWTS and their highly skilled and qualified team have assisted EEG Utility Solutions in many areas of health and safety over the years, in our line of business “Utility Sector” Safety is of paramount importance not only to safe guard our own workforce and ensuring that we always provide a safe site, but also ensuring we keep competency of our entire workforce throughout.

Keeping up to date with the pressing demands of health and safety is a massive task at best, however with having a good working relationship with IWTS makes this process easier, we are guided through changes in legislation; we ring IWTS when we are not sure about how to approach specific hazards and risks in the workplace and Peter and his team are able to assist us to find the safest and best solution possible.

In order for us to achieve a safe site and maintain the competency of our staff it is extremely important that we keep our training up to date and IWTS assist us in doing this, by assisting us to keep our records up to date, notifying us when refresher training is due and guiding us through which additional courses should be attended by our staff to keep up with the changes in legislation.

IWTS team expertise in safety in second to none, especially when it comes to confined space entry working and water jetting, Peter Jackson’s expertise specifically in confined spaces working is first class, we can ring him with any situation, hazard or risk and we know that he will provide us the very best and safe solution possible, and if for any reason he requires to clarify safe controlling, he always comes back to us with a matter of urgency and accuracy and without delay.

Their highly skilled and professional tutors, who are all Ex-Forces/Fire Service Rescue personnel are extremely helpful and have a wealth of knowledge in the subject that they teach, they have time to listen to delegates needs and are very happy to stop and answer any questions that delegates may have. All their courses come with qualification certification and an ID card for each delegate who successfully completes their course. We are also pleased to say that not all delegates get through the training course first time, IWTS ensure that if the delegates do not meet the national standards that they get referred from the course, this is brilliant for us as it proves that the training really does put the delegates through their paces and that IWTS will only put delegates through that are able to meet the standards and are able to perform the task in hand.

The IWTS center in Oldham really is one of the best we have seen, not only are their classroom environments very comfortable, light, airy and roomy, but also their confined space entry, working at heights and water jetting practical training simulators are life like that really gives the delegates what it’s like out in the real world.

IWTS administration staff headed up by director Val Perrin are also very honest, easy to deal with and they make booking courses so easy, it’s a pleasure working with them, they guide us through requirements, what types of refresher courses are required, number of days needed and are more than happy to book in courses at very short notice, weekends included, they are very accommodating and reply to our needs in a very professional manner.

If you want real training that works and effective implementation whereby you know you will get the right results use IWTS and their highly skilled professional team. We have no hesitation in recommending anyone to their services; they are so friendly, honest, 100% reliable it's untrue.
